NEW YEAR'S DAY SPORTS

Eclipses those of Any One Day of Christmas Carnival.

RECORD BREAKER FOR REAL ENJOYMENT

Broncho Riding Was the Principal Feature. Good Riders Furnished an Exhibition Well Worth the Money.

Through the efforts of J. I. Cox, Albert Field, Ed Carskadon and Pat Nunn, New Year's day was as well filled with interesting sports as any day of the Christmas carnival and, perhaps, caused more excitement than any of them, unless it was the day of the dropping contest.

The main feature was the broncho riding, which is always interesting alike to the initiated and the stranger. The herd provided for this event was a choice one and contained some that came as near being the real thing as are often found nowadays.

There were some of the very best riders among those entered, and they furnished a show worth the money. Just to make it interesting there were one or two accidents, though nothing of a serious nature. The "wild man from Montana" went down for sand to throw into the bronco's eyes and as it was too far to reach did not come up again. As he fell he received a kick in the face and was more or less bruised by having the horse trample over him for a short time. Ed Pond got his foot caught in a rope, the other end of which was fast to a wild horse, and performed an acrobatic feat which was not on the program, landing on his chin, which received a cut about three inches long by the contact with the hard ground.

After the broncho busting was over a red hot game of ball was played between the Cow-boys and the Yellow Kids, which furnished a barrel of amusement and led every player to make the greatest effort to reach 3d base as often as possible. These sports finished; the day was rounded out by a Basket ball game at the Opera house and the entire undertaking was a grand success.

Badly Hurt.

We take the following from the McKinley county Republican:

"Burt Flahive while working at a stationary drill at the machine shops was accidentally caught in the machinery last Wednesday and severely injured. The machinery caught the lapel of his coat and he was choked and his arms were severely strained.

"When the alarm was given and the machinery stopped the injured man was found to be unconscious. He was taken to the home of his mother, Mrs. M. M. Flahive, and a physician called. Aside from strangulation, the most painful feature of the accident was the seeming paralysis of the nerves of his arms, and he seems to have no use of them.

"He was taken to the hospital in Albuquerque where he will receive proper treatment. It was a close call for him, and the fact that his clothing was good and strong probably saved his life, for the machinery could not tear the new goods so readily."

Mr. Flahive is a brother to R. H. Flahive of this place, who received word from Albuquerque after the publication of the above to the effect that the injured man was recovering as well as could be expected.

Mr. Lubeck and Mr. Moore, PORTRAIT AGENTS, have been here advertising fine Portrait work for their respective company and are meeting with success, as the work is certainly fine.

"SPOTLESS TOWN."

The citizens of "Spotless Town" will make their bow to the patrons of the Deming Opera House next Friday Jan. 8th, when this big extravaganza will receive its first presentation here. While the author has adhered closely to farcical lines he has in this piece introduced an abundance of spirited and catchy music; so much so in fact that the piece is said to at times take the air of a comic opera. The cast selected to portray the various quaint characters is pronounced a remarkably strong one.

Fine furnished rooms for rent. Free baths for accommodation of roomers. North half Beal's cottage.
